This topographic map depicts the Mountshannon region in Ireland. The central feature is Cappaghbaun Mountain, with a peak elevation of 395m. Other labeled elevations include 365m, 364m, and 317m. The map shows a network of roads, including the R461 and R352. A prominent red dashed line with cross-ticks, likely representing a proposed route or boundary, winds across the landscape. The terrain is characterized by dense contour lines, and several green-shaded areas represent forested regions. In the bottom right corner, the blue waters of Lough Derg are visible, with the town of Mountshannon situated on its shore. Various symbols for points of interest, such as churches and parking areas, are scattered throughout the map.
